17. ABSTRACT (MAX. 250 WORDS)

Major emphasis is placed on economic, training, and vocational adjustment aspects of the poverty problems. Topics included are: the implications of current manpower trends for the war on poverty; tools for working with disadvantaged poverty groups, subdivided into apprenticeship and education; training and retraining programs; bibliographies of research projects on special groups and related problems; the role of government, including legislation; occupational information and its implications for use with disadvantaged groups; placement and aids for community action on poverty; placement and aids for special groups such as minority groups, the handicapped, women, and youth; the relevance of testing to the war-on-poverty effort; financial assistance to students; and basic information sources on vocational rehabilitation. All material was prepared between 1960 and 1965. Appended to the bibliography is a Selected List of Recent Basic Readings related to the War on Poverty, prepared in November, 1964.

FOREWORD

In November, 1964, we prepared a Selected List of Recent Basic Readings related to the "War on Poverty", a copy of which is attached to this Guide.

As anti-poverty programs developed, the need for additional information became apparent. This "Guide to Resources for Anti-Poverty Programs" attempts to satisfy this need, with major emphasis on the economic, training, and vocational adjustment aspects of the poverty problems. Most of the references included are available either free, or at slight cost.

Federation Employment and Guidance Service, established in 1934, is a voluntary, non-profit, educational and vocational guidance, vocational rehabilitation, and job placement agency affiliated with the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies of New York City.
